Of "Wally" Schang

Dunn announced the signing of the two brothers of Wally Schang.

It was Frank's "will to win," as opposed to Fred's apparent lack of concentration on the job in hand, that brought the new champion through in straight sets. The six foot eight inch Fred started off like a winner, running into a lead of 31-on games in the opening set ,as he closed in rapidly at the net, taking the ball on the half volley as he ran from his base line and then smothering his brother's returns by splendid volleying and effective play

Eastern Golfers Beat Westerners on Links

RELLAIRE HEIGHTS, Fla., Feb. 14

The East defeated the West in a team match played here to-day by score of 33 to 28. It was the larges team match ever played in this country, and nearly all sections of the United States were represented. Sixty-five teams started out early this morning, the scoring being on the Nassau system.

Among the prominent teams were several well known golfers. Henry Topping and Ham Kerr led for the East, but were defeated by De Witt Balch, of Cincinnati, and Joseph Schott-

Balch, of Cincinnati, and Joseph Schottman, of Detroit, by a single point. Dr. C. H. Gardner, of Providence, and I. S. Robeson, of Rochester, defeated Ells worth Augustus, of Cleveland, and Arthur Stickney, of St. Louis.

There were many players in line who have become famous in other walks of life, but nevertheless take their game seriously. George Ade, the well known playwright, was paired with Ort Wells, representing the West, but they were defeated by John Love and Francis Wilson, the well known comedian, by 3 points.

Dana Defeated By Yale Expert

First Time Harvard Club Player Has Lost Since National Tourney Started

By A. C. Cavagnaro

Speed proved a dominant factor in the victory of Auguste J. Cordier, Yale over Anderson Dana, Harvard Club, in the final round match of the National Squash Tennis Association inplayed on the Columbia Club courts yesterday. At times Dana performed brilliantly, but he was unequal to the task of combating the superior all ended after three straight games, much to the surprise of many of the spectators. The score was 17-11, 11-9,

For the first time since the tourney has been conducted under the auspices of the present body the title was wrested away from the Harvard Club. Cordier fully deserves his laurels, for he climinated a host of strong rivals in reaching the final round, including John W. Appel jr., Harvard Club, win-

There is, of course, a good deal to this argument. It has a reasonable sound. But, after all, isn't one of the main tests of a baseball machine the utility talent who can fill in when needed?

The club owner and the manager have all the fall and winter to plan a rebuilding of their club and buy or dig up such players as they can. There is six weeks in the spring to train and develop the machine. Through April, May and June, the latter can test this machine and plug up weak gaps if some one clee is willing to sell or trade a needed player. But it might easily come to a tight pennant race in August where the bigger purse would be the deciding factor if some star where the bigger purse would be the deciding factor if some star.

Last year the Havana aggregation was scheduled to play a number of the leading college teams of the East, including a game at Fordham Field, but the Cuban government refused to grant passports to the team, and consequently the trip had to be cancelled.

Several other teams have recently been added to the Maroon schedule. The Bronx collegians will meet Penn State at Fordham Field on May 4, the University of Pittsburgh at Fordham Field on May 20 and Dartmouth at Fordham Field on April 20.
